

Magyar
Önkéntesküldő Alapítvány

Hungarian Volunteer Sending Foundation

Hungary – 1114 Budapest
Szabolcska Mihály utca 7.
Tel: 36-1-375-5059
Fax: 36-1-279-0770
www.hvsf.hu
hvsf@hvsf.hu

Volunteering Opportunity in Asia with the Hungarian Volunteer Sending Foundation

Country:	India
Project title:	Promoting life skills and soft skills as a tool for autonomy and emancipation for women
Field of work:	Computer Science, Education
Project:	GLEN internship
Duration:	3 months (between mid August and mid November 2017) and participation in the GLEN Cycle
Language:	English
Requirements:	Good communication skills and be keen to contribute to women empowerment and gender equality. Experiences in facilitating workshops or other experiences in the education sector would be a plus
Application deadline:	8 January 2017 (please send your application form and covering letter on application.glen@gmail.com)
Before applying:	Read the description of the Glen multipliers training cycle on the HVSF page and visit the GLEN homepage! (www.glen-europe.org)

Description of the host organization and foreseen activities

In India, there are 36 Don Bosco centres of higher education. One of them is the college in Angadikadavu, Kerala, in the south of the country. It is a centre for post graduate studies in computer applications. Their objective is to provide an education in which students gain profound academic competences, spiritual maturity and social consciousness. Most of the students are women from rural areas.

As a GLEN intern you will work together with students in order to develop soft skills, communication skills and different competences which will be supportive in a professional environment. Depending on your own professional background, you will either put an emphasis on teaching skills like blogging and web design or, if you are from humanities, develop creative interview techniques and group discussion skills with the students. In collaboration with a local intern you will organise training sessions. Potential topics include computer science, web design, blogging, scientific writing or project management. The idea is to empower young women and to promote gender equality.

The GLEN team will be formed by a German and a Hungarian participant.

More information:

Szőke Zsófia
application.glen@gmail.com
+36305491447